II. RELATED WORK

There are many research which are available on Legal Advisory platforms but there are various loopholes in these platforms. In this section, we will be discussing previous research and the demerits of those platforms. These are as follows:

In Constitutional Amendments in the Constitution of India [1], The crucial rights were included in the Structure of India with Parcel of eagerness, as the American thought of the 'Bill of Rights' was one of the motivating variables whereas the Indians were battling against the Britishers for flexibility. Indeed, amid an outsider run the show the Indian patriots were making requests for incorporation of a Charge of Rights in the Government of India Act of 1935. But their request might not get Satisfied as the concept of a composed list of rights was not prevalent among the Britishers. They accept that the rights are made by the Parliament. Sir John Simon, the Chairman of the Simon Commission contradicted the thought of incorporation of a charge of rights in the structure. He was of the see that the concept of the British Structure Suggested the sway of the Parliament. All rights in Britain begin subsequently, From Parliament. Besides, the need of principal rights emerges as it were where Totalitarianism rules. But where there is a parliamentary framework of government there is No need of essential rights. Thirdly there can as it will be two conceivable outcomes with respect to principal rights; either they are justiciable or non- justiciable 1. Comparative Were the sees of other Britishers. But there was a principal contrast between The British sacred framework which has advanced itself in the span of a period of Centuries, and the Indian framework which was not a well-established framework, and social structure was a divided structure. At long last, the Government of India Act, 1935 was passed without any say of the crucial rights.

In Know Your Rights [2], This article looks at the ensnarement of organization, instruction, and law in North India beneath early British run the show. Whereas there exists broad dialog on each of these three subjects, students of history have not paid sufficient consideration to the forms in which, by the mid nineteenth century, the official minds of the East India Company continuously came to envision its income organization in North India at the organization crossing point of state bureaucracy, town schools, and the law courts. I will contend in this article that through this crossing point of knowledge/law-making, the Company wished to cultivate an 'enlightened' but at the same time respectful subjecthood among the Indian rustic populace. The challenged relationship between the state, the nearby Indian authorities, and the villagers in common, in any case, foiled this patronizing aspiration.

In Get Back Your Rights [3], For many years, misunderstandings in the Church and circular circles about the law on human rights have left people hurt, confused, helpless and dejected. Knowledge of the law on human rights is not the exclusive preserve of lawyers. It is not called lawyers' rights, but 'human' rights. Therefore, this knowledge is an inevitable weapon that every warfare minded child of God should be armed with. This is because God respects and protects your rights, as well as He wants you to do the same. In Get Back Your Rights, Evangelist Barrister Tony Francis offers help and understanding of your human rights based on God's Word and the Nigerian Law. With this understanding, you are expected to have the mastery and adequacy of what is expected of you regarding your right.
